Sub: Guidelines for Registration of failed Courses

As per the discussion held in the HOD's and Dean Faculty meeting, the following are the guidelines for the registration of a student in the failed courses.

Sl. No.	Scenarios	Possible solution
1	A student in higher year of semester as regular students and has failed in a course of earlier semester with required ISA minimum marks ( Fx grade ) when the course content has remained same with same course code or changed course code with same L-T-P structure.	Can appear for the exam directly in the failed course in regular semester in odd or even semester when it is offered or at summer semester with the total credit not exceeding 28.
2	A student in higher year of semester as regular students and has failed in a course of earlier semester with required ISA minimum marks ( Fx grade ) when the course content has remained same with different changed course code because it has become a part of Integrated course.	Can appear for the exam directly in the failed course in regular semester in odd or even semester when it is offered or at summer semester with the total credit not exceeding 28.
3	A student in higher year of semester as regular students and has failed in a course of earlier semester with no required ISA minimum marks ( F grade ) when the course content has remained same with same course code or changed course code with same L-T-P structure.	Can register for the failed course at summer semester and earn required ISA minimum marks to qualify for ESA with not more than 15 F credits and not more than 28 (F+Fx) credits.
4	A student in higher year of semester as regular students and has failed in a course of earlier semester with no required ISA minimum marks ( F grade ) when the course content has remained same with different changed course code because it has become a part of Integrated course.	Can register for the failed course at summer semester and earn required ISA minimum marks to qualify for ESA with not more than 15 F credits and not more than 28 (F+Fx) credits..

5	A student with a year back and has failed in a course of earlier semester with required ISA minimum marks ( Fx grade ) when the course content has remained same with same course code or changed course code with same L-T-P structure.	Can appear for the exam directly in the failed course in regular semester in odd or even semester when it is offered or at summer semester with the total credit not exceeding 28.
6	A student with a year back and failed in a course of earlier semester with required ISA minimum marks ( Fx grade ) when the course content has remained same with different changed course code because it has become a part of Integrated course.	Can appear for the exam directly in the failed course in regular semester in odd or even semester when it is offered or at summer semester with the total credit not exceeding 28.
7	A student with a year back and has failed in a course of earlier semester with required ISA minimum marks ( Fx grade ) but that course content is not being offered in regular semesters	Examination section has to conduct these exams in respective odd or even semester and student can appear for the exam directly in the failed course in regular semester in odd or even semester when it is offered or at summer semester with the total credit not exceeding 28.
8	A student with a year back and has failed in a course of earlier semester with no required ISA minimum marks ( F grade ) but that course content is not being offered in regular semesters.	A student will register manually for a new course installed in the place of an earlier course. However, if a student wishes to register for the old failed course then he/she has to register for that course in the summer semester only.
